

New Board Whets Pruning Knife For City's Expenditures

Supervisors Call for More Economy and Investigations are Started

ECONOMY PROPOSALS

- Reduction of the mayor's entertainment fund with an attempt to eliminate it.
- Investigation of request of A. M. Brown, city attorney, for salary increases for his deputies.
- An additional stenographer and more money for the library.
- Investigation to determine what autos are absolutely necessary to further the city work.
- With a view to elimination of superfluous and unnecessary machines.
- Reduction of the appropriations from a six to a three-month basis.

A determined stand for economy in city affairs by William McClellan and Lester Petrie, supervisors-elect, was the outstanding feature of the caucus held last night by the members of the new board which will go into office Monday. Messrs. McClellan and Petrie saw numerous ways in which the city's expenditure might be trimmed and in most instances their fellow members of the board endorsed their suggestions regarding the forthcoming budget.

When the mayor's entertainment fund was under examination McClellan thought it really was unnecessary, but Charles Arnold and E. A. Mott-Smith took opposite views and it was finally compromised at $250 instead of $350.

It was also McClellan's idea that the appropriation bill as a whole be made up for the next three months instead of six, because the board was not sure just how much revenue would be forthcoming and to allow the members to become more familiar with the workings of the city government.

Appropriations for automobiles operated by the various city and county officials was held up until a special investigating committee reports.

It was declared the city has too many machines, some of which should be eliminated.

A demand on the city treasury which is especially distasteful to the new board and which will have to be met by them is a yearly increase in salaries saddled upon them by the last legislature amounting to $15,340 and which the legislature left to the county to pay the best way it could.

This included higher salaries for the mayor, deputy sheriffs, magistrates and various municipal and court employees.

City Attorney Brown asked that the salary of C. A. Davis, deputy attorney, and Charles F. Chillingworth, prosecuting officer, be raised $50 each, making their salaries $275 and $250 a month respectively. He also wanted $100 a month for another stenographer, and another $100 for Joe Dias, messenger, and an increase to $150 for Harry Lake, detective. On top of this he wanted $1000 for new law books. No action was taken as Arnold pointed out that Brown should have first taken his request to the mayor.

Some direct questions came from the Democrats on the item donating $100 to the free kindergarten and children's aid association, as they wanted to know why the city should give money to an organization over which the board had no control. This, however, was explained by A. K. Vierra, the new superintendent of public grounds and public buildings, who said that the money went to provide cloth for the girls to learn sewing, and no protests were then lodged.

The new board will hold another meeting Sunday morning.

LOCAL CREWS TO LEAVE FOR HILO THIS AFTERNOON

Crescent City Prepares for Big Reception for Honolulu Crews; 35 to Go

Members of the Honolulu boat club crews will leave Honolulu on the steamer this afternoon for Hilo. The Healanis and Myrtles will send altogether about 35 oarsmen for the two crews. The Hawaii Herald has this to say about the July 4th events:

As July Fourth gets closer and closer the lovers of rowing and the admirers of the Hilo oarsmen began to get worked up to a great state of excitement. The great day will be here next week and all Hawaii, to say nothing of Oahu, will be on the anxious seat until about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when the word will be flashed that Hilo has won both races—may it be so.

The Honolulu bunch that is coming up will number a good sized crowd and among them will be many well known faces. The rowing fraternity of the capital city will turn out almost in full force because the men have all heard of the good time the visiting oarsmen and their friends had in Hilo last year.

It is reported that the Healanis and Myrtles have a couple of fine crews ready to tackle the Hilo ones and that there will be some dingdong races before the pistol of the judges at the finishing line cracks. The visitors are not coming up with any idea that they will have easy victories this time. The narrow squeaks their crews had in 1915 are remembered and the Honolulu oarsmen are working hard and are as fit as it is possible to make them.

The Hilo crews are shaping up splendidly and the seniors and juniors are going to give the visiting crews the race of their lives over the Reed's bay course. Every afternoon the men are out on the bay and the manner in which they have improved during the past week or so is fine to see.

On Sunday morning Captain Nicoll had the boys down bright and early at the Yacht Club and they all had breakfast there. Then it was back to the boathouse once more and again some hard work.

Everything looks encouraging for Hilo and the chances of the Honolulu oarsmen being defeated.

What kind of a yell will go up if the local oarsmen nose in in front of the visitors? It will be good to hear that yell, and good judges think that it will be heard, too.

The new barge is gliding through the water well and so is properly "broken in" now. The boat is a beauty and she will help the Hilo representatives a lot in the big race on July Fourth.

LEARNED ALPHABET SO HE COULD JOIN ARMY

Ira Abrams of Philadelphia applied at the army recruiting office for admission in Uncle Sam's fighting forces. Abrams is a Russian and is engaged in a profitable business in Philadelphia.

In everything other than his vision he passed the prescribed tests with flying colors, and this in spite of the fact that his eyes are unusually strong. The trouble was he was unfamiliar with the English alphabet.

Not one whit discouraged, Abrams went immediately to the Y. M. C. A. and requested to be taught the names of the letters of the alphabet. Within an hour he was back at the recruiting station, had passed the eye tests and was regularly enrolled in the army.

INSURANCE MISTAKE DELAYS BOND FILINGS

Because the insurance and trust companies which are getting out the bonds for the new municipal office holders used an old form it will be necessary to do the work all over again. The proper form is contained in section 67 of the 1915 revised session laws.

As a result it will be impossible to file the bonds until Monday. Nearly all the bonds were ready to file this morning.

WILSON AND WALL MEET FAVOR FOR ENGINEER'S JOB

Bourbons Submit List of Approved Applicants for Fern to Make Choice

Mayor-elect Joseph J. Fern, now recuperating at Halekulani, is to be supplied with some interesting reading tomorrow. Sometime during the day the Democratic county committee will hand him a list of applicants endorsed for positions under the new city administration, all Bourbons, from which he may choose his appointees.

The county committee met last night and considered the applications, about 150 of them. There are two distinct stories being circulated as to what was done with the applications. One is that the committee picked out several applicants for each job and is ready to recommend them to Fern. The other is that the entire list will be submitted to the mayor-elect.

As announced in the Star-Bulletin yesterday, the county committee has gone on record as not attempting to force any appointments on the mayor. Senator M. C. Pacheco, chairman of the county committee, says it was the intention of the body to pass on the applicants only as regards party affiliations and qualification, leaving the rest entirely to the mayor.

Of the applicants for the position of city engineer, W. A. Wall and John H. Wilson, national committeemen, appear to have received the greatest degree of approval. But Democrats say that the list to be submitted to Fern will include a large number of applicants for each of the several positions, including fire chief, city electrician and superintendent of water works.

It is also reported that the Democrats have abandoned the idea of combining the city engineer's office and the department of sewers and water, placing these departments entirely under the control of the city engineer.

PERMIT TO LOAD ELSASS SECURED

Formal permission was received today by the Inter-Island agents for the U. S. shipping board, from Capt. Geo. R. Clark, commandant of Pearl Harbor naval station, to begin loading the ex-German steamer Elsass with sugar. Loading will begin on Monday morning.

Although the big merchantman has been ready to load for the last three days, work has been held up because of delay in the transfer of the Elsass from control of the navy department, which took charge of her in Papeete when war was declared, to ownership by the U. S. shipping board. It is surmised that Captain Clark has received navy orders from Washington to turn the Elsass over to the shipping board, representatives here without further delay.

The Elsass will load 3500 tons of sugar here at Pier 13 and Pier 14, and will then steam to Hilo, where she will load another 3500, taking the 11,000-ton total to San Francisco.
